

THE NOMINEE WHO WILL WIN

General Harrison Divides His Time Between Visitors and Correspondence.

No One Who Has Opportunities to Closely Observe the Political Situation Fails to Predict a Great Republican Victory.

Yesterday was uneventful at General Harrison's home, except in a continuance of personal congratulations from visitors to the city, who made it a special object to pay their respects to him. Among the callers there were few people of prominence outside of the members of the notification committee, who called informally to bid him good-by. But the number was large, and represented chiefly business men who were passing through the city. A pleasing incident yesterday was the visit of Alexander Rubush, of Vincennes, and others who belonged to the General's old regiment. These visits are especially enjoyed by the General, and they always lead to a recital of the events in which the visitors and their commander shared the trial and fatigues of campaign and dangers of battle.

Quite a number of clubs in this and adjoining States have written the General asking him when they may make a formal call on him. The dates have not been fixed yet, but all the clubs will be invited. The club from Denton Harbor, Mich., will probably be here next week, and that of Urbana, Ill., is expected on the 11th inst. The Lincoln League, of Lebanon, Boone county, proposes to call on the 17th inst. Among the distinguished visitors yesterday were the Hon. John W. Foster, and ex-Congressman Horst, the latter from Michigan. General Harrison's mail continues to be very large, and in answering telegrams and letters he has been at the desk in his study until 11 or 12 o'clock every night since the convention adjourned.

The Notification Committee. Most of the committee on notification left the city yesterday night, but a few postponed their departure until yesterday. Chairman Estee went to Chicago, and some of the Southern and Western members returned to their homes, as they were not able to remain away from private business any longer. The parties of the members, as they one by one bade adieu to their associates were exceedingly cordial, and all exchanged words of hope for the success of the ticket in November. "The friendships formed in a national convention," remarked one of the delegates, "like the one at Chicago, where the struggle was so long and so determined, are like those in the army, in which the comrades, who come to know each other very well in a few days, are especially if they are supporting the same man. They caress together, they dine together, and in some cases they sleep together, so that this thing of friendship-making goes on at a lively rate, until when the time comes to part and go home and to work you find yourself quite reluctant to leave some of the congenial acquaintances you have made, and so I find it this time."

Several of the committee went East yesterday morning, not caring to wait and go altogether in the afternoon as arranged. Some had business they wanted to attend to before calling on Mr. Morrison, some wanted to spend a day looking over New York or Philadelphia and some wanted to visit friends in that city. Various reasons they scattered—all agreeing to meet at the Murray Hill Hotel, New York City, tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock. The delegates who came to notify General Harrison at the convention go East will be represented, however, so that the attendance in New York at the notification ceremony tomorrow will doubtless be fully as large as it was here. All of the committee expressed themselves as being highly pleased with their reception here and with General Harrison's response to Chairman Estee's address. They were also gratified at the splendid assurances which they received from Republicans on all sides as to their ability to carry Indiana, so that they, one and all, went away in an exceedingly happy frame of mind politically. The latest representation of the committee left yesterday afternoon at 2:55 o'clock in a special car over the Pennsylvania. Chairman Huston and Messrs. G. McLean and J. H. Morgan accompanied Mr. Huston during his absence will confer with the national committee as to the campaign in the States and Territories, and will also see some of the leading speakers of the East for services in the campaign here, and especially an orator for the State convention. Mr. McLean is simply for a trip and will not be attending the notification ceremonies at Cincinnati.

Kind and Courageous. Richard M. Smock, who was a member of General Harrison's regiment, in relating some incidents of army life, and yesterday: "In the winter of 1863-4 we were encamped near Nashville. As all who were there at the time will remember, it was one of the coldest winters on record. Hundreds of soldiers perished while on picket duty. I remember that during one of the coldest nights I was on picket and suffered greatly with the cold, when I saw a man approaching from the direction of the officers' headquarters. I halted him and when he gave the counterpane and advanced I saw it was General Harrison. He was dressed in a large coat lined with fur, and when I asked him what he was doing he said he was afraid some of the pickets would freeze to death, and he knew some hot brandy would help them to keep alive. He was the most welcome visitor I ever met, for I really believe I would have frozen before morning had not the coffee been brought. After leaving him the General passed on to the other picket and cheered them up with the beverage. His act was one of kindness. The men on duty were nearly all from his regiment, and his personal friendship for them induced him to get up out of his comfortable quarters in the lead of night, prepare that coffee and bring it to us. General Harrison was always kind and generous, and I remember that on the 14th of May, the day before the battle of Resaca our regiment was ordered to advance through a strip of woodland and to the foot of a hill. On the brow of an opposite hill were the rebels, and the position we were ordered to take put us in direct range of their guns. We were terrified to a terrible extent, as we could see no reason why we should be compelled to occupy such an exposed position, many of us wanted to fall back. General Harrison was with us, on foot at the head of the column, and he said we would order and stay there if we died. Our ranks were thinned by the bullets of the enemy, but we held our position, and General Harrison never left his advanced position."

They Cannot Abandon Harrison. J. S. Lambert, State manager of the Union Life Insurance Company, of Liberty, was quite free to express his political preference and opinions, last night. "I have voted the Republican ticket," said he, with a satisfied air, to a Journal reporter, "ever since the Republican party has been organized, and I have enough faith in it to say I will vote with it till I die. It is my choice from beginning to end, and I have an excellent opportunity to sound the political bell of men in every county of the State, and I did, in every case, that they all have greater confidence in the Republican ticket than in any other. State pride, that the Democratic papers are howling so much about, weighs so much with them—I can't conceive of a Hoosier who can condemn the Republican ticket, and I have said: 'What do you consider the strongest hold on the people?' he was asked. "Republicans universally, and many Democrats that I know of are flocking to the support of General Harrison because of the man, and the clean record book of him. Men I never dreamed of so doing say they will exert themselves to the limit of their abilities to put him through. Harrison is a true man in every sense of the word, and what else the Democrats deeply is the fact that he has been perfectly open, honest and trustworthy in every public as well as private life he has ever done."

"The present campaign will be run on a different basis than heretofore, and our Democratic friends will raise the strength of the change of tactics next November. There is one thing that pleases me, and that is the interest our politicians are taking in making the canvass a systematic one. Organization is the true basis for a political campaign, and we are rapidly coming to the point where we shall have as complete an organization as we could wish, and a far more complete one than the Democrats would ask for."

Cleveland and Indiana Democrats. Thomas H. Evans, business manager of "Judge," was one of the callers at General Harrison's yesterday. He is on his way out West, and intended to be present at the notification ceremonies, but was unable to do so. Mr. Evans is sanguine of a favorable result for the Republicans in New York and Indiana. Mr. Cleveland's friends in Cleveland and his supporters in Governor Gray at St. Louis he believes will not have a good effect on the Indiana Democracy. "Hendricks did more than any one could be expected to do," said Cleveland, in the presidential chair, and yet the first thing he did was to ignore him. It is plain to all people in the East that Cleveland dictated the vice-presidential nomination at St. Louis. With these two slaps in the face I do not see how Indiana Democrats can be very enthusiastic for Cleveland. His popularity in New York is not what it was four years ago. Mr. Morton will add much to the strength of the Republican ticket. I am very favorably impressed with Gen. Harrison's extreme absence of self-interest and his cordial treatment of every one. He will prove a growing candidate."

New York's Excellent Condition. Hon. John W. Foster, for a number of years United States Minister to Spain, called on General Harrison last evening. He is on his way to the southern part of the State on some business matters, and came directly from north-western New York, where he has been for some time. He said to a reporter: "The result of the Chicago convention, wherever I have been, has given universal satisfaction. The comments on the ticket are everywhere most favorable, indeed, in New York, especially with the Conkling element, the ticket is strong, and will command a unanimous support. It is a great relief to me to find that the Republicans in New York State, outside of the city, the ticket will gain a great many votes over the ticket of 1884, and if the Democracy could hold straight in the city there is no reason why the Republicans may not be successful in November. The tariff issue, of course, is recognized by everyone as the important factor in the campaign, and it is going to cut heavily into the Democracy. The outlook, on the whole, is very favorable."

A Great Influence in Ohio. William Rose, an extensive wool-grower of Coshocton county, Ohio, is in the city, the guest of Thomas Madden. He says the Republicans of his State regard the nomination of General Harrison as pre-eminently a good one. "The Republican party," he further said, "will poll a greater vote in Ohio this fall than for years. The county in which I live is strongly Democratic, but I am satisfied that the Republicans will carry it this year by a good majority. It is a great wool-growing county, and the Democratic party in seeking to promote free trade is doing the wool-growers a great wrong. A great deal of our wool is shipped East, and we are already getting offers on next year's crop. Buyers are sending out circulars asking us to sell at a low price, and the wool in case it does not pass. I am certain that it is sufficient to make any farmer who raises sheep, vote the Republican ticket."

The Parties in Fort Wayne. Lieutenant-Governor Robertson is in the city attending the meeting of the State Board of Equalization, of which he is president. "The Republicans of Fort Wayne," he said, yesterday, "are rapidly falling in line, and will give the ticket, both State and national, this year, the benefit of their energetic work. The Democrats seem to be utterly devoid of enthusiasm for their campaign is, so far, an entirely lifeless affair. They say they like their ticket, but somehow they cannot get up any enthusiasm. I find no spirit in the party. I am confident that the State, this year, is reliably Republican." The Republicans, at Fort Wayne, will hold a ratification meeting tomorrow night. Major Perkins, Secretary of State, and other officers, have been invited to be present and speak.

Will Gain in Young Voters. Hon. J. H. Jordan, of Martinsville, candidate for Judge of the Supreme Court, was in the city yesterday. He has been a close observer in the politics of the State for a number of years, being at one time chairman of the State executive committee. He thinks that a majority of the new voters who come in this year are going to be Republicans, at least a very much larger percent of them than in previous years. This will be an element that careful politicians will have to take into consideration in making up any correct estimate of the political result in this State in November. The lassitude in the Democratic ranks is also a factor to be considered, and he regards the Republican chances as excellent.

Reunion of the Seventeenth. J. M. Wills, of the committee on arrangements for the reunion of the fourteenth and fifteenth of the Seventeenth, General Harrison's regiment, will take place at Clayton, Hendricks county, instead of at Noblesville, as heretofore announced, on Thursday, Sept. 13. The members of the regiment in Hendricks county and the people of Clayton will make every arrangement to entertain their relatives and friends. All old soldiers will be welcome.
